Do you know what the difference between a town and a city is?

Think, pair, share your ideas.

Towns are urban areas with a name, boundaries and its own government. A town is generally larger than a village but smaller than a city. A town can only be called a city if it is granted this status by the king or queen. In the past, a city could only be a city if it had a cathedral. Sometimes, city status can be awarded to a town to commemorate a special occasion, such as a Jubilee.
